Flores Capt. Lapham was informed by the authorities that he would not be permitted to recruit men or receive letters unless the ship was anchored. Word was sent to anchor the ship, though there was no suit able anchorage in case of a change of wind. At about 5 p. m., May 20th, a wind sprang At about 5 p. m., May 20th, a wind sprang up from an adverse quarter and the ship dragged towards the shore. The captain and first officer were on shore and the second and third mates on board. The wind increased and there was no apparent probability of saving the ship from going ashore. Two boats were then launched containing eight and 12 men. The angry sea was setting directly in for the shore. On reaching the surf the smaller boat capsized and Third Mate Cooper and five sailors were drowned. The large boat was stove but the men reached shore. Both boats were entirely destroyed.

The large boat was stove but the men reached shore. Both boats were entirely destroyed.

Captain Lapham offered $50 to any one who would put him on board the bark but was unable to secure a passage. During the night the wind changed and the Mary Frazier swung away from the shore, parted her cables and drifted out to sea. Captain Lapham lost his chronometer, sextant and all his personal property, including his money left on board. The loss of his papers prevents him from knowing the names of the lost men. Three belonged in Fayal, one, he thinks, in Pico, and the fifth was a native of the Cape de Verde islands.

Captain Lapham has been on trial three times in the Portuguese dominions. The first was on a charge of smuggling at Pico, and the second on the same charge at Fayal. He was cleared each time. A few days after the drowning of the men at Flores, a court of inquiry was convened at Flores. Through the idiosyncracies of the Portuguese laws, Captain Lapham was not summoned and was refused admittance. The court was supposed to have investigated the case but the result was not made public. It presumably discharged the captain as he heard nothing of the matter afterwards.

lurnished grounds for suspicion which finally culminated in his arrest on Monday by Officer Swanton of this place, who in company with Detective McNamara, brought the respondent here where he was arraigned the following afternoon before Trial Justice G. M. Leighton. County Attorney Peabody conducted the prosecution, and H. H. Gray, Esq., appeared as counsel for the prisoner. The prosecution introduced three witnesses to prove the guilt of the respondent, among whom was Dilman. The testimony amounted to this—that Nowlan got up in the night and went off without his breakfast, and that Dilman discovered some two hours after, that the twenty dollars was gone from his account book. The hearing closed with a lengthy review of the evidence by thecounsel for the accused, after which the court ordered him to furnish sureties to the amount of $300 for appearance at the October term of the S. J. Court. Nowlan is a native of the provinces, and came to these parts in 1887 as a Methodist preacher, and was accepted on trial by the East Maine Conference, and was assigned to the churches in Gouldsboro and Steuben. For dishonesty in his dealings with the Conference he was blacklisted at the last session of that body. Since then he has been doing revival work on his own nook with good success. He is suspected of complicity in the recent robberies committed in Steuben, and his dwelling was searched this week; what the results were the officers decline to disclose.

A WILD WESTERN SCHEME Which Came Very Near Securing

BIDDEFORD, July 23 .- A couple of weeks ago the mails in Maine were flooded with flaming red circulars, addressed to banks and ng of a national bank in Fargo, Dak., and oliciting subscriptions of stock. Lots of Biddeford people got them, and some of the nen who have put their surplus cash in Western enterprises thought it a big scheme and about decided to invest in it. The bank and about decided to invest in it. The bank in question was to be known as the "North Dakota National Bank," so the circular stated, and its capital stock was to be placed at $2,500,000. To stock-takers the movers in the enterprise guaranteed a dividend of 3 per cent, quarterly. Interested parties could send on their money at once, or could have the privilege of meeting the bankers at the Astor House, New York, the Adams House, Boston, or Grant's Hotel, Philadelphia, on certain dates mentioned in the circular, and Accompanying the announcement was a flowery write-up of the city of Fargo, giving statistics regarding its number of inhabitants, schools, churches, manufactories, business enterprises, etc. Everything was there in sufficiency except banks, which could coin money as soon as they got capital stock to start with.

While these Biddeford capitalists were discussing the matter of subscribing for stock in the new bank, one of the shrewdest of the number wrote a letter to an acquaintance of his in Fargo, and made inquiries regarding the prospect of the new bank about to be established there. This acquaintance is in the banking business, and is thoroughly posted on speculations and banking in the great Northwest. A letter was received from him Monday. It stated that there was no such party in Fargo as advertised in the circular, and that the "North Dakota National Bank" scheme was a fraud.

Was Boomed by Cleveland. WASHINGTON, July 23 .- The tremendo boom in certain suburban real estate in the District of Columbia under the Cleveland administration is rapidly flattening out. The failure of the Massachusetts avenue extension scheme and some other little plans which sion scheme and some other little plans which were intended to benefit Red Top and the remaining properties in that immediate vicinity has set the holders thinking, and all that can do so have covered themselves. Ex-Sec retary Whitney, who is unusually keen scentey in a financial sense, was the first to sniff danger, and he has made quite a handsome thing out of his investments. The smaller fry, who were less farsighted, have been quite badly nipped. Just after President Harrison was inaugurated a story was industriously circulated that he intended to purchase a suburban home. This was traced down to a clique of real estate speculators, and was made out of whole cloth. The President never had the slightest idea of following Mr. Cleveland's example and lending his name and great position for the pecuniary advancement of a lot of political cronies. When he is in Washington he will live at the White House and make that a home for his family. The coming Congress will be requested to either build a new Executive Mansion or to make extensive additions to the present edifice. The accommodations now are notoriously inadequate, especially the sleeping apartments. Should additions be made the main building would be suited for the holding of public receptions and the transaction of the regular routine business of the executive. were intended to benefit Red Top and the re-

The truth of the matter is that Mr. Blaine has had the same pallid, careworn look for the last ten years. It is now neither more nor less marked. His departure from Washington is owing to the fact that he is unable to withstand the heat of the capital, and is not due to any physical or mental break-down. During his absence he will do nothing in the line of appointments unless some extraordinary conappointments unless some extraordinary contingency should arise, so the numerous gentlemen who expect to spend the remainder of the summer abroad, at the expense of the government, will be bitterly disappointed. It is, perhaps, needless to add that Secretary Blaine's decision in this respect meets with the entire and hearty approval of the President.

Reward Offered for Hall of Bangor -More Money for the State House Extension-Mrs. Hawes of Deering Appointed a Visitor to the Reform

AUGUSTA, July 23.-The Governor's Council is in session today. Hon. Herbert M. Heath spoke for the pardon of Lorenzo S. Turner of Richmond, whose sentence in the State prison in manslaughter expires next January. Turner was transferred from the insane hospital to the prison two months ago, and a pardon is asked on the ground of insanity. The officers who prosecuted favored the pardon, and a fifth of the citizens have signed the petition. W. E. Parsons of Foxcroft and Hon. J. F.

Sprague of Monson appeared before the board and applied for a reward of $500 to be offered for the apprehension of Edwin B. Hall of Bangor, the murderer of Alexander MacKimmie. The Province of Nova Scotia has agreed to offer a sum equal to that of the State of Maine. It was shown that Piscata quis county or the town could not legally of-quis county or the town could not legally offer a reward. The sentiment in that section demanded that semething be done, and there was considerable feeling because no steps had been taken to apprehend Hall. Messrs. Barber, Abbott and A. W. Gilman of Foxcroft were called, and testified as to the sentiment of the community.

L. D. Carver of Rockland asked for pardon of Eldridge Stone of St. George, convicted of burglary in 1886. He is now under a sentence of ive years. It was represented that Stone, who is but 23 years old, has reformed and his parents being on the town's charity, that he should be at liberty to support them.

The council gave an extended hearing on a petition to pardon Dr. Elmer D. Morrill of Lewiston, who was sentenced to State prison for life for criminal malpractice in the case of Miss Matilda Cook of Lewiston. His sentence was commuted to five years by the Council last summer. C. P. Morrill of Sheboygan, his brother, conducted the case, and read letters from Hon. James G. Blaine, Hon. J. W. Bradbury, Judge W. H. P. Whitehouse and others favoring the pardon. Morrill held that his brother was not guilty of a crime at all, but was simply summoned as a physicia n after an operation had been more performed previously by George F. Dutton.

Dr. Scott Hall of Augusta was called as a cataracts and rapids. After leaving Lee's Ferry some distance, a terrible cataract is found, which is spoken of by Major Powell in a report in 1869, as being 16 feet high and one of the most terrible whirlpools he ever saw. It is supposed that here is where the unfortunate accident occurred in which Mr. Brown lost his life.

Mr. Brown was, as near as can be learned, born in Maine, in 1850. At an early age he moved with his family to Washington, where his boyhood days were passed. Soon after attaining his majority, Mr. Brown went to Alaska, where he spent several years in the employ of a large fur company. After coming to Colorado, he first located in Leadville, and was for some time manager of the Farwell group of mines at Independence. He has recently lived in Denver, and was interested much in real estate. Mr. Brown about 12 years ago, married Miss Minnie, second daughter of Judge and Mrs. Ward of Denver. His widow, and two children, a boy of 10 and an infant son, are now travelling in Germany with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ward and a brother-in-law. On the day of his death Mr. Brown's father-in-law, Judge Ward, sailed from Europe, and is expected soon in Denver. Mr. Brown so feather-in-law, Judge Ward, sailed from Europe, and is expected soon in Denver. Mr. Brown was president of the Denver. as a physician after an operation had been performed previously by George F. Dutton. Dr. Scott Hall of Augusta was called as a witness. Letters from the late insane hospital trustee, Mr. Dearborn of Parsonsfield, Dr. Cobb of Standish and others, were received and used as evidence. County Attorney Libby opposed the pardon.

The Turner and Stone cases were tabled, and the Council voted unanimously that the petitioners have leave to withdraw in the Morrill case.

In the matter of the application for pardon of William Cochrane of Aroostook, sentenced for breaking and entering, which was tabled at a previous session, the council voted that he be pardoned at the expiration of his brother's term of imprisonment in August next. The counsel did not appear in the case of the petition for the pardon of John F. Lawrence of Bangor, for murder, and the case goes over to the next regular meeting of the Council.

Very few court dockets of Robeson county since the war are free from its bloodstained records. What is best to do with these peculiar mixed people is a question that has for a long time taxed the minds of statesmen. Schools for their special education have been provided, but it seems they are making no headway. Their habitation is a black spot on the map of North Carolina. Many of their murderous deeds are never known outside their territory, as half their homes are hid away among dense swamps. No other habitations for man so wretched and woeful are to be found elsewhere in our henisphere.

PAINE AND DUNRAVEN.

The American Probably Declined to Act for the Englishman.

NEW YORK, July 23 .- General Paine, the Boston yachtsman, who has defended Ameryachting trophy, has sent a reply to Lord Dunraven's invitation asking the general to negotiate match races for the Valkrie on this side. What the exact wording of the letter is General Paine has declined to make known a few days ago a man was passing through Robeson county and he has never been heard of since. It is supposed he was suspected of being a detective and killed. The trouble on Sunday was confined among the outlaws themselves, and a general outbreak may be the New York Yacht Club held its meeting last Thursday, however, ex-Commodore James D. Smith had received several letters from General Paine, in which the latter expressed the intention not to come to any conclusion until the result of that meeting was announced. It was then supposed by all of the prominent yachtsmen of New York, that General Paine would not accept Lord Duuraven's offer. It is therefore to be considered probable that General Paine's answer would make use of the action of the New York Yacht Club as an excuse for refusing the invitation.

York Yacht Club as an excuse for refusing the invitation.

The New York club refused to establish a new international trophy or purse outside of America's Cup, and General Paine undoubtedly pointed out to the Earl of Dunraven that in view of this fact there would be no occasion for a representation, on this side, of Dunraven's interest. With all that has been done in the affair it looks hardly probable that the Earl will come over at all. He cannot be here with his racer in time for the Goelet Cup or the New York seventy-footer cup, and the only trophy for which he could compete would be the Paine International Challenge Cup for seventy-footers.

He was provided with a sail, compass, water and provisions, and started on the journey. During the first 24 hours he had good weather; then a gale from the northeast came on, compelling him to drag his boat to keep from sinking. While lying to, at night, a sea broke over the dory, washing away his water, provisions and oars, and he was left at the mercy of the wind and waves. After drifting about for two days and nights he was picked up near Sable Island by the schooner Victory of Lunenburg, N. S., and landed at Canso, N. S., from where he was forwarded to Halifax by the United States Consul, and from there to Boston. Svensen says this experience is the most severe he has ever had during his ten years' fishing.

Flagstaff, the nearest railroad station. Mr. NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 23.-Information Frank M. Brown was drowned, as were also has just reached here that Mrs. Hattle Gibson Heron, wife of Rev. David Heron, late of Jonesboro in this State, is under sentence of death in Corea, for teaching the doctrines of Christianity. Rev. David Heron is well known as a Presbyterian minister. He went to Corea three years ago, his wife joining him a few months later. Mrs. Heron preached the gospel as well as her husband, and was the means of converting a nobleman in Corea who began preaching Christianity him-self. The Emperor had Mrs. Heron arrested and imprisoned. Her case was investigated, and finally sentence of death was passed.

> WASHINGTON, July 23 .- Dr. H. Mallen, ecretary of the Corean legation, has spent many years in Corea, and said tonight in regard to the story that Mrs. Heron was to be hanged in Corea: "I know the Coreans too nanged in Corea: "I know the Coreans too well to think they would do anything of the kind. The story is altogether improbable." The Doctor added that the Coreans looked upon Christianity with great disfavor and made it a capital crime. The law was a dead letter, however, two years ago and missionarieswere sent to Seoul the capital When they were found preaching nothing was done to them.

> WASHINGTON, July 23.-Acting Secretary f State Wharton, upon telegraphic repreessee that Mrs. Hattle Gibson Heron, a missionary to Corea, was to be hanged for preaching the doctrines of Christianity, cabled Minister Dinsmore at Seoul to investigate the case, and if necessary, or not too late, to use his good offices in securing Mrs. Heron's release.

At the Guion Line offices H. K. Abbott said: "I do not know of any gambling going on on the vessels of this line, as we adopt strict measures in dealing with the evil. I know of it, though, in other lines, and not infrequently have I heard of a rich man losing thousands while crossing to the other side or in returning to this country. They cannot well stop it, as sharpers get aboard and generally get all the money, too. In London a couple of years ago a young sharper was taken from the steamer and arrested, but he was immediately discharged."

At the White our Line offices an official said: "By have known of several cases of gambaig and dealt severely with the principals. Any one known to be a gambler will be debarred from passage again on the steamers of this line. It is not only gambling, but all sorts of buncoing goes on. Cardplaying is the chief danger, as the chips very soon enter the game, and money is wagered on the results. If the authorities on either side would punish those we hand over to them it would stop the evil; but they won't. I could tell of several instances of the kind where the parties we handed over to the police have been let go, or promptly bailed."

He could not say what amount of League money Mr. Egan and the other trustees had invested in his name in France. It might have been £100,000, £50,000, or £15,-000.

THEY STOLE THOUSANDS

The Thieves and Booty. NEW YORK, July 23 .- The police last night captured an entire gang of "up-town" flat robbers and are on the track of thousands of dollars' worth of stolen property. The gang has been operating over two months and the police up to last night were at sea as to their identity. The police first found where the stolen property was disposed of and two of the gang were caught red handed there. They were Chas. Ferguson and Edward Ryan. Later Edward Herman was captured. From these information was obtained that led to the arrest of others, including Wm. Hickey, the leader of the gang. Some members of the gang are in prison, doing penance for crimes. On four men were found 60 skeleton keys and a wad of pawn tickets representing stolen property. All the prisoners were arraigned today and remanded.

also allow the Legislature to make other limits and terms for preventing the vote of persons holding higher allegiance to organizatians which they deem to be above that of the State and the United States government. The minority report is so framed as to cut off legislation, and in the eyes of anti-Mormons leaves a loophole through which the Mormons may crawl and secure the control of the political power. A proposition to take these reports up in committee of the whole caused some fillbustering, which blocked all business for some time. The matter was finally settled by an agreement to consider the reports Thursday. Hundreds of Mormons withdrew last fall to evade the test oath and vote, and this makes the anti-Mormons anxious to give the Legislature the power to make new limits and restrictions that the Mormon Church, now colonizing a portion of Idaho, may not participate in politics. This question has caused the chief trouble during the convention.
